

HIGH PERFORMANCE MUSCLE HARDENING AGENT

DESCRIPTION

Alphadex is an all-natural, clinically researched hardening agent and estrogen blocker designed to increase your strength and muscle mass while improving definition and tone so you can build lean, shredded muscle mass. From extensive lab studies to clinical trials, Alphadex has been shown to improve fitness and muscle tone by inhibiting the conversion of testosterone to estrogen to encourage optimal muscle building and fat loss.

HOW IT WORKS

Alphadex works by inhibiting aromatase, which results in less estrogen and more testosterone. Estrogen has been linked to fat storage, particularly fat sitting just under the skin. Therefore, by reducing estrogen levels, you can increase your muscle definition. More testosterone also increases the overall strength and size of your muscles, resulting in lean, hard, well-defined muscle mass.

ACACETIN

Acacetin is an organic compound commonly found in various plants, including the damiana, the black locust and the silver birch tree. Acacetin works to regulate aromatase, which is the essential aspect to estrogen synthesis. With estrogen production suppressed, the body has an optimal ratio of testosterone to estrogen. By slowing the estrogen synthesis, the body is forced to find contractile protein - used to generate force for muscle contraction - from the synthesis of estrogen receptor fat cells. This process helps you lose fat while optimizing healthy hormone levels.

GARCINIA MANGOSTANA EXTRACT

Garcinia mangostana extract comes from the purple mangosteen fruit, found primarily in Southeast Asia. Studies have found that the Garcinia mangostana extract can accelerate weight loss to eliminate stubborn fat and provide even greater definition in your muscles. The mangosteen extract has also been found to effectively suppress appetite, preventing unwanted cravings and supporting healthy diet habits.

BIOPERINE®

Bioperine inhibits the process of glucuronidation in the liver, which maintains the levels of supplements and compounds in your body. In some cases, it can completely negate supplements usage, rendering them useless. But, by inhibiting this process, the piperine found in Black pepper extract allows those supplements to circulate through your body for maximum absorption.

WHY MYOKEM?

Through extensive research and development, Myokem has created unique formulas that use pharmaceutical quality ingredients for fat burning, muscle building, recovery and overall improved athletic performance. Each supplement has been painstakingly researched and developed extensively through clinical trials and scientific studies.

At Myokem, we focus on crafting unique formulas with the best quality ingredients that deliver unrivaled results. We're not afraid to use unique, exotic nutraceuticals that most supplement makers won't go near because they are too expensive and difficult to source. In an industry that is more focused on profit margins and unfounded hype, Myokem is the perfect marriage of brains and brawn. Our innovative products are designed for people who are serious about seeing results and Myokem provides the nutritional tools to maximize your workout and provide optimum results.
